The ground floor is 1,009 square feet and includes an entrance at street level with a large closet,a living room,a dining room,a washroom as well as a kitchen with an island and a walk-in closet. The livable surface area of the second floor is 1,456 square feetand includes a laundry room and all four bedrooms.

Do you prefer a 2nd floor or 3rd floor apartment?

Do either the 2nd or 3rd floor. All the pipes (poo and water) converge inside the bottom floor apartments and they have to deal with all the problems of those who live above them. Third floor/top here. I'm obese and have to walk up the stairs but I still prefer it. Safety, comfort, noise, all of it is worth a few extra dollars and some heat.

Do you prefer a first floor or a second floor?

Always the top. Always always always. First floor - less walking you have to do. But easier to be robbed. I prefer the top floor, no noise from above is the main pro. I lived on the second floor and I could hear EVERYTHING my upstairs neighbor was doing. Carrying groceries to the top can get pretty annoying but I'm use to it.

Should I buy a second floor or 3rd floor in Houston?

You may also possibly get more patio space/higher chance of a patio, which is great if you're like me and hoard potted plants. That being said, second and third floors are much less likely to flood. This is ESPECIALLY a Houston problem- many neighborhoods have not insignificant flash floods at least once a year.

Should I buy a first floor home?

First floor is great for convenience,especially if you have a dog or kids- no having to go up and down stairs every single goddamn time the dog wants to poop. You may also possibly get more patio space/higher chance of a patio,which is great if you're like me and hoard potted plants.

One of the big considerations when buying a flat is whether you are going to buy upstairs or downstairs. It is not only about having a good view, it is also about price.

Put a smaller / junior suite on the first floor and put the larger main suite on the second floor. This will allow
