How can Equatorial Guinea improve its economy?

Equatorial Guinea needs to implement robust reforms to diversify the economy and revenue sources, strengthen fiscal discipline, and improve public financial and investment management, while efficiently investing in human capital and promoting transparent natural resource management.

How did the economy of Equatorial Guinea grow in 2024?

Equatorial Guinea's economy grew by an estimated 0.9% in 2024 which was insufficient to boost jobs and earnings enough to maintain living standards, especially in a context of soaring food prices. Equatorial Guinea's produced capital increased between 1995 and 2020, mainly due to high investment in infrastructure.

What is the economic outlook for Equatorial Guinea in 2025-2027?

GDP growth in Equatorial Guinea is forecast at -1.2% in 2025-2027 amid high global uncertainty and declining hydrocarbon production. Despite a decreasing GDP, poverty is expected to decline from 57.0% to 55.8% between 2024 and 2027 due to the projected expansion in the labor-intensive agriculture and service sectors.

Why does Equatorial Guinea have a low production capital?

Equatorial Guinea's produced capital surged during the oil boom but has declined since 2014 due to diminishing oil revenues and reduced public investment. Overall, the country experienced a more than 100-fold increase in produced capital between 1995 and 2020, bolstered by public investments following major oil and gas discoveries.

Does Equatorial Guinea need reforms?

Equatorial Guinea needs strong reforms to protect and expand its wealth assets. Increasing spending on education, skills, and healthcare is vital, while aligning investments with fiscal space.

Does Equatorial Guinea have good human capital?

Equatorial Guinea's produced capital increased between 1995 and 2020, mainly due to high investment in infrastructure. Human capital outcomes also improved but are not aligned with the country's income level.
